RUSSIA MAY SEND OBSERVERS FOR MARSHALL PLAN

BY JOSEPH E. DYNAN
Paris, July 8 (AP)—Thirteen nations, including Czechoslovakia in the Soviet sphere, have accepted French-British bids to the Paris conference on the Marshall plan. Czech sources in Prague hinted that Russia herself might finally be represented.

There had been no refusals by nightfall from the 22 invited nations.

The French foreign ministry announced that 10 nations—Belgium, Italy, Portugal, Eire, Greece, Turkey, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Czechoslovakia and Iceland—have turned in formal acceptances.

Associated Press dispatches from Berne, Vienna and Copenhagen said that Switzerland, Austria and Denmark decided officially to participate in the reconstruction parley.

Poland Undecided

Confusion concerning what was going on in the Russian zone states mounted as the Thursday deadline for accepting the invitations drew near. The conference will open Saturday.

Polish, Romanian and Finnish diplomats denied reports broadcast by Tass, official Soviet news agency, that their countries had rejected the invitation. They said a decision could not be known until tomorrow. An Associated Press dispatch from Warsaw said it still was a "toss-up" whether Poland would accept.

Yugoslav, Albanian, Bulgarian and Hungarian spokesmen here could not be reached for comment on the attitude of their governments but reports from those four nations indicated their decisions still were being studied.

A dispatch from Prague said that Czech sources close to the government declared there was considerable indication Russia might send a representative—perhaps as an observer.

Self-Help First Item

These sources said they based their suggestions on the Czech acceptance of the invitation, indications in Prague that the Poles also might accept, and an about-face by the Communist party in Prague from the earlier criticism of the motives behind the economic rehabilitation proposal.

The Paris conference is in-

Fifth Sex Murder Victim Reported In Los Angeles Area

Los Angeles, July 8 (AP)—The ravished and strangled body of Mrs. Rosenda Mondragon, 20, was found almost in the shadow of the city hall early today, and police sent out a statewide teletype bulletin for the apprehension of a man with whom she had reportedly been seen shortly before.

She was the eighth sex murder victim locally in a cycle which began last Jan. 15 with the mutilation slaying of Elizabeth Short, the so-called "Black Dahlia." This case has never been solved.

Mrs. Mondragon had been strangled with a silk stocking. Her face was bruised and swollen and her breast lacerated. Contusions covered her legs. An autopsy surgeon said she had not been raped.

Troubles In Greece Are Blamed On America And Britain

BY LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, July 8 (AP)—Russia late today charged that the situation in Greece was the result of American and British interference and demanded that the United Nations order foreign military personnel off Greek soil.

The Soviet Union also called for U. N. supervision of all economic aid to Greece in a renewed attempt to place the American program of direct support under international control.

"Direct intervention through the presence of foreign troops has been supplemented lately by new forms of intervention in sending to Greece so-called military instructors and in supplying war equipment," Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said in his new attack on the American aid program.

Rejecting a U. N. report blaming Soviet Balkans satellites for the Greek border disorders, Gromyko said the Greek government alone was at fault.

Gromyko put forward the Russian rebuttal to a majority report of a Balkan investigating commission in a 78-minute speech, one of the longest ever delivered to the security council.

Last Bill Of 1947 Legislature Gets Sigler's Signature

Lansing, July 8 (AP)—Governor Sigler cleared his desk today as he signed the last bill of the 1947 legislative session.

The final measure to clear through the Governor was a bill providing for a revision of the unemployment compensation law.

At a hearing Monday the measure won the support of management interests who said it would speed up payments and eliminate "chiseling" and unnecessary paper work.

Labor interests opposed the bill as too severe to workers. They claimed it would deny benefits and cancel wage credits of workers dismissed for cause or who quit without justification.

Sigler admitted there were some objectionable features to the measure but declared he believed the good outweighed the bad and that the bill would make for a better administration of the committee.

"To do this would upset the world system of distribution and make a petroleum a source of international friction," Foster said at a House foreign commerce committee hearing into the possibility of a domestic oil shortage.

The action came on a voice vote after the House refused, 124 to 115, to send the authorization proposal back to the House administration committee for further study—a move which would have probably blocked publication during this session.

Income Tax Slash Wins Approval In House, 302 To 112

BY FRANCIS M. LE MAY

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The Republican-backed $4,000,000 income tax reduction for 49,000 taxpayers sailed through the House again today by an overwhelming vote of 302 to 112. This is 26 more than the two-thirds needed to override a second presidential veto.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) personally took the floor and asked the body to make its vote so decisive "as to persuade the president that the people should have this delayed justice."

The measure was tossed over to the Senate, where Republican leaders said they hope to rush it again to President Truman's desk before the week ends.

Some Democratic leaders said another veto is certain.

The measure is identical with the one the president returned June 16 as "the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time"—except that the effective date of the tax cut has been changed from July 1, 1947, to January 1, 1948.

Immediately after the House action, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) introduced a substitute bill in the Senate which he contended would emphasize relief for the people with low incomes instead of "high tax savings to the high income groups."

Lucas' bill would raise the personal exemption for taxpayers and their dependents from $500 apiece to $650, and would reduce each surtax rate by four percentage points.

He said he might press his substitute when the Senate meets tomorrow on the House bill, and certainly would do so on the floor.

Finance Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) predicted confidently that the committee will clear the House bill tomorrow. It will be taken up in the Senate after the Army-Navy unification bill is out of the way—possibly Thursday.

In today's roll call on passage, 233 Republicans were joined by 69 Democrats in support of the bill. Opposing were 109 Democrats and two Republicans—Hull of Wisconsin and H. Carl Anderson of Minnesota—and the American Labor party member, Rep. Marcautino of New York.

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Undersecretary of Commerce William C. The action came on a voice vote after the House refused, 124 to 115, to send the authorization proposal back to the House administration committee for further study—a move which would have probably blocked publication during this session.

Detroit, July 8 (AP)—Thomas J. Trainor, caterer and brewery representative, arrived at the Detroit Yacht Club today for a dinner engagement with his wife, Lucy, just as her body was being removed from the Detroit River.

Club officials said Mrs. Trainor, 57, apparently had fallen from the couple's cabi cruiser moored at the club's main dock. The Trainors had been together at the club earlier in the day.

Trainor, who was distraught, said his wife had suffered from a heart ailment.

'FLYING DISK' FOUND, SOLVES NO MYSTERIES

OBJECT IDENTIFIED AS WEATHER BALLOON

Fort Worth, Texas, July 8 (AP)—The discovery of a "flying disk" reported by an Army public relations officer proved a dud today when the object was identified as a weather balloon.

Warrant Officer Irving Newton, forecaster at the Army's Eighth Air Force weather station here, said the object found near Roswell, N. M., was a ray wind target used to determine the direction and velocity of winds at high altitudes.

He said there were some 80 weather stations in the United States using this type of balloon and that it could have come from any one of them.

Followed By Radar

"We use them because they can go so much higher than the eye can see," Newton explained. A radar set is employed to follow the balloon and through a process of triangulation the winds aloft are charted, he added.

When rigged up, Newton stated, the object looks like a six-pointed star, is silvery in appearance, and rises in the air like a kite, mounted to a 100-gram balloon.

Newton said he had sent up identical balloons to this one during the invasion of Okinawa to determine ballistics information for heavy guns.

Maj. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, commander of the Eighth Air Force with headquarters here, also said in a radio broadcast tonight that the "flying disk" was a weather balloon.

He was interviewed over a Fort Worth radio station (WBAP). Earlier, it was announced that he would broadcast over the National Broadcasting company, but this was not done.

PICKED UP BY RANCHER

The weather device had been found three weeks previously by a New Mexico rancher, W. W. Brazell, on his property about 85 miles northwest of Roswell. Brazell, whose ranch is 30 miles from the nearest telephone and has no radio, knew nothing about flying disks when he found the broken remains of the weather device scattered over a square mile of his land.

He bundled the tinfoil and broken wooden beams of the kite and the torn synthetic rubber remains of the balloon together and rolled it under some brush, according to Major A. Marcel, Hometown, La., 509th Bomb Group intelligence officer at Roswell, who brought the device to Fort Worth.

On a trip to town at Corona, N. M., Saturday night, Brazell heard the first reference to the "silver" flying disks, Major Marcel related.

Brazell hurried home, dug up the remnants of the kite and balloon on Sunday and Monday headed for Roswell to report his find to the sheriff's office.

This resulted in a call to Roswell Army air field and in Major Marcel's being assigned to the case. Marcel and Brazell journeyed back to the ranch, where Marcel took the object into the custody of the army.

HELLCATS ALERTED

Detroit, July 8 (AP)—The Gross Pointe Naval air station set out today to solve the mystery of the "silver" flying disks, Major Marcel related.

Brazell hurried home, dug up the remnants of the kite and balloon on Sunday and Monday headed for Roswell to report his find to the sheriff's office.

PRINCIPLES ENGAGED

London, Wednesday, July 9 (AP)—The Daily Mail said today in a dispatch from Athens that the engagement of Princess Elizabeth to Lt. Philip Mountbatten, the former Prince Phillip of Greece, would be announced Thursday by King George VI.

The body of Mrs. Dorothy Swanson, was found in her kitchen last night by her 17-year-old daughter, Barbara, who had been away at summer camp as counselor.

Ralph Duchacek, one of three children and a seventh grade honor student, was arraigned in Framingham district court and was held without bail for hearing on July 15.

Mrs. Swanson's body had a laundry bag over the head and a cord tight around the neck and there was no indication of rape or theft, police said.

Three "Flying Saucers" Sighted Over Escanaba

Those flying "disks" or "saucers" that have been reported as spinning through the air over the central and western section of the United States for the past 13 days still remain as much of a mystery as before.

But Roy Erickson of 1119 Third avenue north, a North Western railroad car inspector, yesterday said that he had seen three of them over Escanaba at 4:45 a.m. (EST) Saturday, June 28.

"I didn't say anything to anyone but my wife about it before this because I was afraid people might think I was just seeing things," Erickson said when asked why he had not reported it earlier.

The June 28 date was about the time the first of the "flying saucers" were reported seen, but there was no announcement until a later date when others were sighted.

"After I began reading about other people seeing them I thought people might believe me then," Erickson said.

Erickson was working night shift as a car inspector for the North Western when he saw the "flying saucers." At that hour of morning it was daylight.

"The first one came from the south and went overhead to the north very fast. The first one was hardly out of sight before the second appeared and went north. The third one followed it. They were gray color and spinning very fast. They were flat because when they got into the north they looked very thin and then disappeared,"

MILDRED EMBS DIES SUDDENLY

Heart Attack Fatal To Former Escanaba Resident

Miss Mildred Embs, 38, of Los Angeles, former resident of Escanaba, and a member of the casting office staff for Warner Brothers, died suddenly of a heart attack Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Catherine Rogers, with whom she made her home.

Word of her death, which came as a shock to relatives and friends in Escanaba, was received in a message to her uncle, Joseph Embs.

Miss Embs was born in Escanaba and was a graduate of Escanaba high school. She had been with Warner Brothers since moving to Los Angeles after completing her high school studies here.

Her survivors are uncles and aunts, Joseph Embs of Escanaba; Attorney Will Embs, of Iron River; Mrs. Rogers, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Herman Leopold of Stonington and Arthur Smith of Stonington. Her only sister, Dorothy, died three years ago, and another uncle, Antone Embs, of this city, passed away several years ago.

Arrangements for the services are not complete.

The 1946 harvest of our major varieties of nuts came to more than 160 thousand tons.

Erickson said.

The flying disks made no sound, he added. In the air each of them looked to be "about as big around as an automobile tire," and their speed was about twice that of a fast airplane he estimated. Thinking the objects might have been something that came out of the stack of the city steam plant—"although I didn't see how they could"—Erickson said nothing about what he had observed until he read reports of other "flying saucers" being seen in the sky in widely separated sections of the country.

Wisconsin, Dakota, California, Washington — observers in these and other states have reported seeing the "flying saucers" whirling through the sky.

At San Francisco, Calif., Gen. Carl Spaatz, air force commandant, alerted jet and conventional fighter planes on the Pacific coast in the hope of chasing and explaining the mystery.

From Spokane, Wash., it was reported that eight of the strange aircraft—if that is what they are—made a landing on a mountainside in full view of ten persons.

They were reported as traveling at extreme speed from south to north and then halted and "flutered like leaves to the ground."

The Associated Press received many reports of other "disks" being seen in the sky, including one in New York State, Wisconsin had a flurry of them over the holidays, but there were no observations authenticated by weather bureau observers or airport controllers.

There was the possibility, reported the U.S. Navy, that the objects sighted might be some of the Navy's new "flying flaps," a twin-engine, tailless aircraft still in the experimental stage. There were others who surmised that the U.S. air forces is experimenting with flying disks to develop controls for the direction of missiles.

While American newspapers buzzed with accounts of "flying saucers" and "luminous disks," the London newspapers were inclined to pooh-pooh the whole thing and called it "America's reply to the Loch Ness monster." And Europeans generally took the position that the "flying saucers," like the "ghost rockets" that last year reportedly plagued Sweden, would go away without causing any more damage than an occasional case of nerves.

Regardless of European opinion, however, hundreds of Americans reported what they saw in the sky for a few flashing moments. The epidemic of the "flying saucers" will someday be explained. Meanwhile it's still a mystery.

Her survivors are uncles and aunts, Joseph Embs of Escanaba; Attorney Will Embs, of Iron River; Mrs. Rogers, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Herman Leopold of Stonington and Arthur Smith of Stonington. Her only sister, Dorothy, died three years ago, and another uncle, Antone Embs, of this city, passed away several years ago.

$20,000 Escanaba Airport Fund Safe

Washington, D. C. (WNS) — Funds earmarked for the Escanaba airport are safe.

An amendment offered by Senator Joseph Ball of Minnesota which would have withdrawn the $20,000 allotted for this project from the Federal Airport funds appropriated for the 1947 fiscal year was defeated.

Senator Ball had offered an amendment—accepted by a subcommittee handling the State-Commerce-Judiciary appropriation bill—which would have withdrawn all allocations made for Class I, III and IV airports. In the full Senate appropriations committee Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, author of the Federal Airport legislation, argued successfully that the Ball amendment constituted legislation on an appropriation bill.

Neither Senator Ball nor any other senator attempted to restore this amendment on the floor. The appropriation bill has passed the Senate and is now in conference, but it contains no provision withdrawing allocations already made, although the sum provided for the 1948 airport program was less than that asked by CAA.

CEMETERY ASKS FOR INJUNCTION

Power Company Defendant In Suit Brought By Gardens Of Rest

Circuit Judge Frank A. Bell today will resume hearing of the suit brought by Gardens of Rest, Inc., to obtain an injunction restraining the Upper Michigan Power & Light company from extending a power line across Gardens of Rest cemetery, located in Wells township on US-2.

Court adjourned yesterday afternoon to give J. T. Sharpenstein, Delta county road commission superintendent-engineer, an opportunity to examine road commission records concerning a highway that once existed where the power company proposes to extend another electric line. Sharpenstein was called as a witness for the plaintiff.

Sharpenstein testified that the present US-2 paving was completed in 1930 and was opened to traffic in 1931, and that there was at that time a north-south roadway through what is now Gardens of Rest property. Whether that roadway was taken over by the county for maintenance under the McNitt act Sharpenstein said he could not determine until he had consulted the road commission record.

Mrs. Myrtle Waldron of Gardens of Rest, Inc., testified that in June 1939 the Wells township board granted her firm a cemetery permit. Counsel for the power company described the permit as incomplete because, he claimed, it did not include all of the Gardens of Rest property.

In further testimony Mrs. Waldron said that in 1939 when the property was purchased for cemetery purposes she "never knew there was a roadway there." The power company seeks to make its power line extension along the old roadway.

Mrs. Waldron testified that on May 9 she was told by Marcus McNabb, surveyor for the power company, that if there was opposition to the line "we'll go right down through the center."

On July 2, Mrs. Waldron continued, McNabb returned to survey across Gardens of Rest property and she ordered him off but he wouldn't leave and she removed his survey stakes.

"He told me that he was a deputy sheriff and that if I touched his stakes he would take me to jail and lock me up," Mrs. Waldron testified and then broke into tears.

Last spring Gardens of Rest sought a court order restraining the power company from continuing its line extension. The court is now hearing both the petition for a restraining order and an injunction.

Ever try to go down a moving stairway that's coming up? It takes time to get to the bottom.

It's like our trying to get to the bottom of our waiting list for telephones. For nearly every order we can fill we receive another new one. So there are still a lot of people waiting.

We are making headway. More and more cable and central office equipment are being manufactured and installed. And we're installing telephones faster than ever before. If certain materials weren't so hard to get, the job would go even faster.

There's still a long way to go and a lot to be done before we can give service to everybody who wants it at any time and any place. But we'll keep right at it until that day comes.

UNION LABEL

Threat From Petrillo

JAMES C. Petrillo, czar of the musicians' union, has threatened to prohibit network broadcasts and to ban union musicians from recording their music.

In typical Petrillo fashion, the Caesar of the musicians union says that if radio stations want to broadcast the music of Harry James, let them bring Harry James to their studios. Or let them bring Arturo Toscanini, or Wayne King.

Here is another brazen instance of how modern labor union bosses shunt the public welfare aside for selfish reasons. Petrillo would deny to the mass of the people of America the pleasure of hearing the world's greatest music unless the radio stations pay increasingly greater tribute to Petrillo and his union.

Testifying before a house labor subcommittee, Petrillo was asked whether he believed that Edison was doing a disservice to humanity when he invented the phonograph, the principle upon which our modern juke boxes and radio transcriptions were developed.

Petrillo replied, "Not to humanity, but to musicians."

The truth of the matter is that musical recordings and musical network broadcasts have improved rather than harmed the country's musicians. They have developed Americans' interest in music and certainly they have raised the standards of music throughout the land.

The American public is already paying tribute to Petrillo's union through royalties on records and fees paid by radio stations and others for the privilege of playing music.

The high handed manner in which Petrillo runs the musicians' union and his reckless disregard for public interest is resented by all who believe in the principle of the greatest good for the greatest number, the basis principle of democracy.

We do not believe that Petrillo will get away with his threat to turn back the progress of civilization by depriving the American people of their right to hear the world's greatest music without paying an oppressive tribute to a labor racketeer.

It's Franco, 12 to 1

BY a margin that the Franco government announced as 12 to 1, the Spanish people have approved General Franco as their dictator for life and also empowered him to name his successor.

The results of the voting are not at all surprising, even if one concedes that the announced tabulations are accurate, which is open to suspicion. The Franco idea of democracy is identical to that of the Hitler regime in Germany and the Stalin "democracy" in Russia.

Under the Franco law, all persons convicted of political offenses are prohibited from voting and there are millions of these people among the Franco opposition. The remainder of the citizens are required to vote, but if their votes are challenged their ballots are opened for public inspection. The name of the challenged voter and how he voted is recorded. Since it is not healthy for anyone in Spain to be branded as a Franco opponent, only the most hardiest and courageous souls dare to chance governmental wrath by casting opposition votes. Moreover the opposition was expressly prohibited from campaigning against the measure.

With a voting system like this, it is hardly necessary to juggle the voting results although few of us in this country would doubt that the Franco strongarm would do so if they found it convenient or necessary for their purpose.

The adoption of the "law of succession" changes nothing in Spain. Franco has already possessed the powers granted to him under this law. He held the power by virtue of his control over the army and the police authority. The voting merely confirmed his authority under a system that permitted no other result.

This, then, is how democracy operates in Spain, just as it does in Stalin's Russia; Franco's bitter enemy. It is a queer concept of democracy as judged from American standards.

He Chose Freedom

OF all the books from Russian sources in recent years, "I Chose Freedom," by Victor Kravchenko, is by far the most revealing.

Kravchenko was for years a Russian civil and industrial engineer, who rose from small beginning to an office in the Moscow Kremlin, close to that of Stalin's. He was given a mission to the United States as an inspector of lend-lease commodities. Thoroughly disgusted with the Russian scene, his eyes opened to the new world of America, he decided to stay here and publish a book on the facts of life in the Soviet Union.

Life there for the average citizen is one long nightmare, according to the writer. No Russian aside from members of the Politburo is safe. Hundreds of thousands have been spirited away in the night, and they were never heard of again. Death was their portion, or a brief existence in the terrible concentration camps where death relieved them. The N. K. V. D., the Gay Pay Oo, the Gestapo of Russia, is all-powerful, with its own courts, camps and firing squads.

The incompetence of the Moscow Politburo earns several chapters in "I Chose Freedom." Contrary to outside world belief, the famous five-year plans have not brought comfort and security to the Russian people. The latter are kept in the dark as to what is going on in the world. For example, Kravchenko was warned for days about the sly capitalists of the United States and Canada and what they would do to him if he was caught napping. The truth, as revealed to him in Washington, was a potent factor in his cutting the ties which bound him to Stalin and his associates.

There isn't much hope of the Russian people's awakening as long as they are in the chains of the N. K. V. D. It's even a crime to own a radio without a special permit, in the U. S. S. R. People who listen to short-wave American broadcasts often turn up missing. No one can leave Russia without an endless amount of red tape, and strangers are not wanted in this land of the "Iron Curtain."

COLLEGE TUITION UP

Tuition rates in the nation's colleges and universities are, in a majority of cases, being increased, but not much has been said about it, because public attention has been directed largely on rising costs of secondary and elementary education. Investigation reveals college tuition fees are at an all-time high.

Private colleges have upped rates as much as 23 per cent over the pre-war average. In state-supported institutions the boost has been 25 per cent for non-resident students and about eight per cent for residents.

In private colleges for men and women the 1947-48 average, based on reports from 53, was $453 and the average for 11 private colleges for women was $363. These figures represent a considerable increase. Some veterans, with their $500 Government allowance under the GI Bill of Rights, can't continue with their studies in some of the more expensive private institutions unless they have other sources of revenue and are willing to use it.

However, there is little the colleges can do about it. Increases in tuition by no means offset the higher costs for teaching staffs and equipment. Tuition has not kept pace with the general price rise and most colleges have deficits which are made up by revenue from outside sources.

Despite these conditions there are no indications the higher cost of getting an education has made even a dent in the number of persons seeking it. There is a record demand for admission to colleges in all parts of the country.

PICKETING A WEDDING

(Milwaukee Journal)

One of those irritations in the use of picketing that does no one any good and only hurts labor occurred at St. Joseph, Mich.

Some members of the CIO Electrical Workers' union didn't like the Taft-Hartley bill, which is their right. But what did they do? They picketed the wedding of the third son of Senator Taft.

Since this union is generally credited with having a strong Communist infiltration, it may be that little red termites had something to do with this shameful demonstration. We don't know as to that.

It does fit in with their methods. One would not expect them to show any appreciation of what most Americans consider fair and sportsmanlike. And picketing the wedding of a son of a senator you don't like certainly falls in that category.

Such actions harm all labor—even unions that wouldn't dream of doing anything like it.

We, not Russia, are the question mark to millions and millions of men and women who love freedom and will fight and die for it if only they have hope. These people look to Washington, D. C., and not to the Kremlin for guidance.—Rep. Walter Judd (R) of Minnesota.

HERE'S HOW THEY TALK

(Radio Speech Portrait)

The Hon. Jos. W. Martin, Jr.

Speaker of the House

Voice: A rather high baritone of good quality. Despite his long years in politics, Speaker Martin has remained free of what is called "orator's throat," a sort of frog voice resulting from a thickening of the vocal cords.

Enunciation: good.

Style: Somewhat spread eagle, but dramatic and forceful nevertheless. His speech pattern is Standard American. Indeed, one would take Mr. Martin for a Midwesterner were it not for a certain New Englandism that crops out occasionally in his speech—that of flattening the "a" before "e" in such words as guard, hard, heart. This flat "a" (it is almost, if not quite, as flat as in "hat, man") is especially typical of Massachusetts (Mr. Martin is a native of North Attleboro, Mass., where he is the publisher of the Evening Chronicle). Emily Post once wrote: "There is no rhyming word as flat as they (New Englanders) say 'heart.'"

Score: Voice, 23; enunciation, 20; style, 20; pronunciation 15. Total 78. Rating, good.

Washington—In the most obvious and public way, the Soviet Union has now made it abundantly clear that the masters of the Kremlin do not want the reconstruction of Europe on anything but their own terms. Those terms mean ultimately the surrender of the values at the base of Europe's civilization.

Because Molotov's performance in Paris was so crude, the perennial apologists for Russia in this country are likely to have a bad time finding a convenient rationalization. That will not apply, of course, to the avowed Communists who merely parrot Pravda and the Moscow propaganda radio.

But for those who travel on the fringes, it will be more difficult. Troubled idealists who have continued to cling to Russia's professions of good intention should after this have no difficulty in making up their minds. Those who still go along will be guilty, in the most charitable judgment, of deliberate and wilful blindness.

In his last radio talk, Henry Wallace spoke approvingly of the Marshall plan for Europe and the gain it represented, in Wallace's view, over the Truman Doctrine. The radio talk followed a speech in Washington in which Wallace had made no mention of the Marshall program.

The Washington speech is an interesting document. Through it runs the hint that so long as a single sharecropper is denied the right to vote, the United States has no right to interest itself in what is happening in Europe and Asia.

This is the Isolationism of the left. It may well become official policy for the Communists and fellow-travelers, who will do all in their power to undermine the Marshall program for European reconstruction.

There is a striking parallel for this Isolationism in the recent past. From the time of the Soviet-Nazi Pact in August, 1939, just before the outbreak of World War II, up until Russia was attacked on June 21, 1941, the Communists and the fellow-travelers in this country were fiercely Isolationists. That was the hallmark of the Communist line.

They said it was merely a war between rival imperialisms. They did everything they could to prevent any aid from going to the countries that were trying desperately to hold off the Nazis. They denounced Roosevelt as a warmonger.

In Washington Wallace spoke under the auspices of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. In the period from August, 1939, to June, 1941, the Southern Conference followed that Isolationist line. In its April 1945 session at Chattanooga, the conference went on record as "unalterably opposed to the appropriations of money for armaments at the expense of appropriations necessary for the solution of our domestic problems, both rural and urban." In other words, so long as there was a sharecropper without a pair of shoes, we should not build America's defenses even though the shadow of the Nazi plan of world conquest was already long across this hemisphere.

A news bulletin of the conference issued from Birmingham, Ala., in the spring of 1941, said: "Individually, members of the staff have supported the American Peace Mobilization, recognized as the only broad movement in America today which truly reflects the will for peace of the American people. As was to be expected, those reactionary elements which have opposed us in our fight for the abolition of the poll tax, for Democracy and for higher standards of living for the southern people, have been most vigorous in attacking us for our stand for peace. It is to be regretted that in addition some individuals within the conference have fallen prey to war propaganda, and have deserted the conference movement."

The American Peace Mobilization was the creature of the Communist party, sparked by conspicuous CP-ers and travelers on the fringe. Among original sponsors were several of the officers of the southern conference for human welfare. These Isolationists, who were doing Russia's bidding whether they knew it or not, helped to keep the United States unprepared both physically and morally for that blow that fell at Pearl Harbor. We know from events of the past seven years how dangerous was that ostrich-like unpreparedness. Strangely enough, in the unreal period the Communist line was almost identical with the Chicago Tribune line.

We can work for progressive goals here at home and at the same time we can play a Democratic role in the rehabilitation of Europe. In fact, the two objectives are really one and the same.

BEHIND THE STORY—News-paper stories describing the rescue of Jackson and Webster Marble of Gladstone from the waters of Little Bay de Noc on July 1 were incomplete, according to Stanley Beggs. The Marble brothers overturned in their 14-foot plywood boat at 9 a. m., and were rescued at 3:30 p. m. after drifting near the Stonington shore.

Beggs reports that a Mrs. Carlson of Stonington heard the cries for help, went to the Beggs place where she knew he kept a rowboat, and alone went out to rescue them. Beggs said that he did not know Mrs. Carlson's first name, but probably some of the Stonington people will recognize her.

THE RAINY SEASON—From Curundu, Panama, Mrs. Joseph Boyer (the former Marion Strahl) writes rather plaintively:

"As you may have gathered by now, Panama is beginning to stink. Joe and I make conversation which usually begins 'Remember how cool the breeze was off Lake Michigan?' We had one cool day. It went down to 77, for the sixth time in the past 43 years. It was the coldest day here since 1943.

"The rainy season has brought its little problems and it seems that everything I pick up needs attention. Discovered that my Rolleiflex (camera) was covered with green mold; all my camera cases mildewed; the laundry never dries; everything rusts; the books must be treated with mold preventive; the shower turns green;

the shoes mold; my hair grows about an inch a week and is straight as a string; I get heat rash; bugs breed by the billions and eat up everything in sight including clothes; giant two-inch cockroaches appear in the drains; malaria mosquitoes gnaw on you

ENFORCED VACATION

"When I get through here I'm going to take a nice long vacation," said Bob Bancroft, spectacle director for the John B. Rogers Producing company. He said that on Saturday while struggling with the hundreds of details that go with the production of any show in which the cast is composed of amateurs, Bob was tired and just a little ragged from days and nights of work in connection with the staging of the Hiawatha Land Saga.

Undoubtedly he was deserving of a vacation. For in a Western state where he directed a show before coming to Escanaba just about everything had happened—snowstorms, windstorms, fire and other catastrophes. Things went better in Escanaba, although there was the threat of rain one night, and the northwest wind whipped the scenery around on Saturday, the day Bob announced that he was going to take a vacation.

Sunday morning the wind was even stronger. Fearing that one of the sets might collapse during the religious services being held at the athletic field, Bancroft went there, climbed to the top of the set and began to loosen the canvas scenery to relieve the strain on the wooden supports. A gust of wind caught the scenery and in view of several hundred people who had arrived early for the services, the set collapsed and Bancroft suffered a broken leg. His vacation will be a long one and, unfortunately, will be spent in the hospital.

DIESEL POWER FOR E&LS LINE

Conversion Completed
Next Fall; Modern
Cars Ordered

The Escanaba and Lake Superior Railroad company plans to use diesel electric power exclusively in the operation of its railroad service, G. W. Brown, general manager, has revealed.

The company already has a diesel electric locomotive in service and another diesel unit will be added this year. Delivery is expected in November at which time both road and switching railroad service provided by the company will be diesel powered.

A quantity of modern new cars of various types also has been purchased and others will be secured to provide one best service possible. The new cars are a type interchangeable with other lines.

Mr. Brown declared, "We are making an earnest effort to provide shippers on our line railroad freight service equal to the best and at the same time to keep the line in operation in the years to come. To do this we feel that it is necessary to keep pace with the times in providing facilities that are modern."

The railroad operates a freight connection with the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific through Channing, Mich., and with the Soo Line through North Escanaba, as well as the Chicago and North Western into Escanaba.

Present officers of the company follow: E. L. Richardson, Milwaukee, president; D. A. Grant, Milwaukee, vice president; F. N. Weider, Milwaukee, secretary, treasurer, and general counsel; J. W. B. Van Houten, Milwaukee, assistant secretary and treasurer; G. W. Brown, Wells, general manager; A. W. Moberg, Wells, auditor; E. Christensen, Wells, car accountant; and O. J. Thorsen, Wells, master mechanic.

Camp Of Crippled Children Damaged

Officers of the sheriff's department are looking for the meanest man—or men—in Delta county.

He—or they—are the persons who broke into a tent used by crippled children of the Rotary club sponsored day camp at the Brotherton cottages on the Ford River shore some time July 4.

A softball, a bat, and a wagon used by the crippled children were stolen. The oil stove was dumped over, paints were thrown around the tent, and articles the children had been making were destroyed or damaged. The vandalism was not discovered and reported until Monday.

It was also reported by Con Lemmer, operator of the Brotherton resort, that a green Marble boat is missing from its place. The boat disappeared sometime Monday night.

The British government plans to make its war weapons and ammunition interchangeable with those of the United States.

American forces won their first victory in World War I at Cantigny, France, on May 28, 1918.

Conference Will Be Held Today At First Presbyterian

Rev. J. Burt Bouwman, Lansing, executive secretary of the Michigan Council of Churches and Christian Education, will lead the discussions at the conference to be held at the First Presbyterian church parlors at 10 o'clock this morning.

Representatives of labor, industry and agriculture have been invited to attend. Plans will be made for a Good Will conference to be held in the Upper Peninsula later in the year.

NAVY EXHIBIT HERE THURSDAY

Axis Powers Secret Weapons To Be Displayed

Secret weapons used by the Axis powers will be displayed by the Navy Club of the U. S. A. at its mobile exhibit at the intersection of Ludington and Tenth streets Thursday and Friday. There is no admission charge. It was announced here yesterday, but voluntary contributions will be accepted to finance the organization's welfare and rehabilitation program.

The club will exhibit some of the most fantastic suicide weapons developed by the Axis powers during World War II. One of the exhibits will be a complete suicide V-1 piloted bomb. This weapon was used with devastating effect against the civilian population of England.

Another feature is the Italian diving torpedo, the only one of its kind in this country. This weapon was operated by two "frog" men who were experts in underwater demolition. The detachable warhead on this torpedo could be secured to the bottom of a ship with a time bomb attachment and the main part of the torpedo was used by the men to get away.

These other weapons on display were loaned by the Navy Department to the Navy Club of the U. S. A., the only exclusive organization of naval veterans in the U. S. It is a non-profit group dedicated to welfare and rehabilitation work among Navy veterans of all wars.

Persons who served in the Navy, Naval Reserve, Coast Guard, Marines, Marine Corps Reserve, Waves, Spar or woman Marines are asked to register after viewing the exhibit.

Radio In Review

By John Crosby

Opinion-Aire

"In my opinion probably no position taken by the broadcasters is more insincere and insecure than their bland contention that the listener does not want anything he is not now getting, and that any time he does, he has only to ask for it. The public cannot ask for something it does not know exists, or could exist. It did not ask for the novel; it did not ask for the printing press; it did not ask for Shakespeare or Walt Disney or for news magazines. It did not ask for radio."

Dr. Frank, however, is a surgeon and was unable to leave Milwaukee because of a serious case.

High wind and electrical storms gave their craft a hard time. From time to time they put into harbor; when they saw that the festival would be over before their arrival, plans were changed and the group visited many of the harbors along the course.

Both the Darlings and Cummings, members of the Milwaukee Yacht club and the United States Power Squadron, were impressed with the Escanaba harbor and pleased with the facilities offered yachtsmen.

Their boat is a 230 horsepower craft with accommodations for eight. Sitting in her stateroom, affectionately called the Darling's Dancehall for its spaciousness, the couple hardly conceive a more relaxing and enjoyable vacation.

The Darlings named their craft the Victory for their daughter who was born shortly before the end of World War I. Dr. Frank served 27 months with the Army medical corps in France. It was on his trip over in the submarine periscope that the doctor decided if he ever made it back, he would sail.

Asked where he learned the rudiments of sailing, Dr. Frank laughed and said there were three ways of learning navigation. One was to sit in a yacht club and listen to dry-land sailors, another read books, or, apprentice yourself to a man who knows and loves the sea as well as his ship.

When their duties permit, the visiting yachtsmen attend night classes in seamanship at Marquette University. Thus far their licenses allow them to sail only on the Great Lakes. In the fall, however, they plan to make a trip through the Drainage Canal, down the Illinois and on down the Mississippi. If they have time to get their studies completed.

Though the festival was over, Dr. Darling said it was good to be in Escanaba. Mrs. Darling looked up from her washing which she was hanging on the deck and stated, "That is it." The group last stopped in Jackson Harbor; from here they put out for Fayette and then to Charlevoix to complete a tour of the east and west side of the lake.

Miss Rita Carefelle, Francis N. Pond Are United In Marriage

Munising — At a double-ring wedding ceremony performed at 8 Monday morning before a peony decked altar of the Sacred Heart church, Miss Rita Carefelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Carefelle, 208 Birch street, became the bride of Francis N. Pond, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Pond, 302 Onota street.

The couple spoke their vows before the Rev. Gerald Harrington. A nuptial high mass was held immediately following the wedding ceremony.

Miss Patricia Parker was the bride's only attendant and Albert Pond, brother of the bridegroom, served as the best man.

For her wedding, Miss Carefelle chose to wear a street length, yellow sheer two-piece peplum dress with rounded neckline and three-quarter, push-up sleeves and white accessories. She wore a white ribbon picture hat and carried an arm bouquet of mixed summer flowers.

The bride's maid of honor wore a street length powder blue, two piece peplum dress with ribbons, an open crown white hat, and white accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of mixed summer flowers.

Mrs. Fred Carefelle, the bride's mother, wore a pink print dress with black accessories and Mrs. David Pond, mother of the bridegroom, wore an Alice blue two-piece dress with black accessories. Both mothers wore a corsage of pink roses.

A wedding breakfast for 20 guests was held at 10 at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Earl J. Passinault, 718 West Superior street. The breakfast table was decorated with multi-colored columbine to carry out the summer theme and had as a center-piece a four-tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional bride and bridegroom.

Immediately following the breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pond left on a week's wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. For traveling, the bride wore a wool twill, coral peplum suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations encircling a red rose.

Mrs. Pond is a graduate of the Mather high school, Munising, and the St. Lawrence School of Nursing, Lansing. She is a World War II veteran of the Army Nurse corps and had served 14 months overseas in the Philippines and Japan before her discharge. Prior to her wedding she was employed as a member of the staff of the Munising hospital.

Mr. Pond is also a graduate of Mather high school and a veteran of World War II, serving for three years in the Army, of which he spent 27 months overseas in the European theatre of operations. At the present time, he is employed as a bookkeeper with the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railroad company.

Mr. and Mrs. Pond will make their home at 927 West Munising avenue following their return from their wedding trip on July 14.

WSCS TO MEET

Munising — The next meeting of the Methodist church Women's Society of Christian Service will be held July 23 when a report of the summer institute at Lake Michigamme will be given. The regular monthly meeting scheduled for today will not be held.

3-Mill Levy For Schools Needed, Sup't Wood Says

Munising — Continuance of the additional three-mill tax levy for Munising township schools is needed if requirements of the budget are to be met, Superintendent of Schools H. A. Wood, said yesterday.

Five years ago, he said, the people of Munising township voted three additional mills for their schools. This was voted in for a five-year period, the limit allowed by law, and the final levy for the five-year period was completed in Dec. 1946. Continuance of this levy will be up for a vote at the annual school meeting to be held July 14, he remarked and added that persons voting should remember that it is not a new tax or an additional tax they will be voting for, but merely a continuation of the levy they voted for five years ago.

The state legislature has diverted $18,000,000 from the sales tax amendment which the people voted last November, he continued. This means that schools will again have a difficult problem financing even the present program.

This money which the state legislature took from the schools' share of the sales tax, he said, has meant a loss of $18,000 to the Munising township schools.

Because of the increased costs of operating, the additional money coming from the state will be several thousand dollars short of the amount needed for the year.

Three mills on the assessed valuation of Munising township gives the schools approximately $10,000 each year, the superintendent said.

The polls on July 14 will be in the fire hall and will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Any registered voter is eligible to vote.

Local Red Cross To Sponsor Blood Clinic Aug. 25-26

Munising — The Alger county chapter of the American Red Cross, headed by George Goss, yesterday issued an appeal to all Alger county men and women between the ages of 18 and 50 to register for the coming blood plasma clinic to be held at the Legion club August 25-26. Chapter officers are stressing that all blood given in Alger county will be used by local hospitals and physicians to save the lives and hasten the recoveries of local patients. The question they put before the public is: "Can you spare 30 minutes to save a life?"

Because the need for plasma is great, all who have given blood in the past are urged to give again and to bring a friend or relative with them to the clinic to help meet this need. Mr. Goss urges agencies, organizations and church groups to participate in the clinic, remembering that "some one lives because someone gives."

A. M. Stebles has been named chairman of the local blood drive and a doctor and staff of nurses from the state department will operate the clinic.

Persons may register for the clinic by phoning Stanley K. Erickson, 263, Munising.

Munising Man Fined $100 On Assault Charge

Munising — Leo LeVeque was fined $100 in justice court Monday on charge of assault and battery and his brother, Joseph, was fined $10 on the same charge. Leo was taken to the county jail and given 48 hours in which to pay the fine or spend 90 days in jail. Both men were also ordered to pay court costs of $5.10 each.

The complaint against the LeVeque brothers was made by Elmer O. Johnson, who said he was riding down East Superior street when he heard a bump on the rear of his car. Thinking he had hit someone or something, he stopped, got out, and found one of the LeVeques had hit or kicked his car. An argument started and also a fight in which Joseph and Leo LeVeque took part. Johnson, who received a cut over the left eye, then made the complaint for the arrest of the LeVeques.

The fines against the LeVeques were imposed by Judge John A. Vizena.

Gladstone was returning to normalcy yesterday afternoon after a five-day celebration which included the Roleo, Homecoming and U. P. Firemen's tournament. The Firemen's tournament closed yesterday morning and many of the visiting firemen and their families returned to their homes during the day.

A total of 487 firemen registered for the tournament which was the 53rd annual gathering since organization of the association.

OLD TIMER
John Hermann, 79, of the Calumet Village department, was the oldest fireman attending the tournament. Hermann attended the organization meeting of the U. P. department over a half century ago and also attended the first annual meeting of the association.

The tournament team from Caspian proved tops, winning two events and tying for first in another and taking two seconds. Bessemer was right on their toes with a first, a tie for first, two seconds and a third.

Race winners were as follows: (Five-man tank and ladder)—Caspian, Bessemer, Ontonagon; (five-man equipment)—Bessemer, Ontonagon, Crystal Falls; (five-man ladder)—Crystal Falls, Caspian, Ontonagon; (four-man hose coupling)—Crystal Falls, Caspian, Bessemer; (six-man hose replacement race)—Bessemer and Caspian tied for first, Ontonagon third; (five-man hose coupling)—Caspian, Bessemer and Amasa.

Prizes of $25 for first, $15 for second and $10 for third were awarded the winning teams. Caspian won $100, Bessemer $70, and Crystal Falls $60.

In the water fights Monday evening, a local team composed of Wallace Cameron and Dib Boivin with Ernest DeHooghe as coach defeated a team formed by Steve Carriere, Earl Closs and Walter Tang. Ontonagon then borrowed the weather logs of the victors and also turned in a victory over the local trio.

Americans Win All - Star Battle

BY JACK HAND

Wrigley Field, Chicago, July 8 (AP)—The 1947 All-Star game never will be retold to doting grandchildren as the ultimate in baseball thrills but it will be remembered as another chapter in the American League's victory saga over the National by a slim 2-1 margin before 41,123 customers.

Bumping four National throwers for eight hits, the Americans partly repaid Manager Joe Cronin for his World Series misfortunes by opening up a 10-4 edge in the series dating back to Comiskey Park in 1933.

In comparison with last year's 12-0 rout in Boston the National gained a moral victory by holding its rivals to a one-run margin, engineered by Washington's Stan Spence with a pinch hit single scoring Boston's Bobby Doerr in the seventh inning.

Mize Throws Scare

Johnny Mize, fence-busting New York Giants first baseman, had struck fear of the vaunted National League power into the hearts of the Americans with a 380-foot blast into the right center field bleachers in the fourth. It came off Frank Shea, the freshman sensation of the New York Yankees who turned out to be the eventual winner.

Luke Appling's pinch single opening the sixth, followed by Boston's Ted Williams' ripping single to right, set up the tying run. Old Luke, the perennial Chicago favorite, had gone to the way from second but he scored easily from third.

Hal Newhouser of Detroit, who got the starting call for the Americans when Spud Chandler of the Yanks reported with a sore elbow, had hurled two and two-thirds innings of no-hit ball until Bert Haas of Cincinnati, pinch hitting for teammate Ewell Blackwell, rapped a single in the third. He breezed past the Phils' Harry third on the blow. He romped home easily while New York's Joe DiMaggio was bouncing into a double play.

In the final analysis it was a peculiar play at second base in the seventh that made the victory possible. With one out, Doerr had lined a single to left. He stole second easily, sliding in under Catcher Bruce Edwards' throw to Brooklyn teammate Eddy Stanky.

Error For Sain

On the next pitch, Johnny Sain of Boston, third pitcher used by Manager Eddie Dyer, spun all the way around in a sweeping motion and tried to pick Doerr off second base. The ball hit Doerr and careened off into short right center, permitting the Red Sox second sacker to reach third. It was scored as an error for Sain, the eventual loser.

Buddy Lewis of Washington who caught the entire nine innnings, became a strikeout victim but Spence came through with the telling blow as a pinch hitter for Shea. It might have been close at the plate if Doerr had to come all the way from second but he scored easily from third.

Hal Newhouser of Detroit, who got the starting call for the Americans when Spud Chandler of the Yanks reported with a sore elbow, had hurled two and two-thirds innings of no-hit ball until Bert Haas of Cincinnati, pinch hitting for teammate Ewell Blackwell, rapped a single in the third. He breezed past the Phils' Harry

Walker via the strikeout route to complete a shutout three-inning unbroken.

Blackwell, the animated bean pole from San Dimas, Calif., blew down four strikeout victims and allowed only DiMaggio's secondinning singe in his three-inning stint.

Shea Has Troubles

Shea ran into trouble in his first inning when Mize, who leads both majors with 24 homers, slammed a high hard one into the ocean of white shirts in the right field bleachers.

Buddy Lewis of Washington had backed near the ivy-covered wall but the ball sailed over his head by some 30 or 40 feet. It was a big run at the time, and the fans, who appeared to be pulling for a National League victory in the Cubs' home park, sensed an exciting 1-0 success.

They had forgotten about Mr. Williams, who had broken up the '41 game with a ninth-inning homer and who had turned the '46 classic into a Roman holiday.

Williams had doubled off St. Louis' Harry Brecheen in the fourth inning. Now coming up in the sixth with Appling on first base and Sain on the mound, Williams lashed a vicious line drive single to right, sending Luke around to third.

The Nationals went for the double play on DiMaggio's bouncer to Shortstop Pee Wee Reese, permitting Appling, who was away with the rap of the bat, to score easily from third.

Record net receipts of $105,314.90 were ear-marked for the player pension fund.

Dyer sent every member of his 25-man squad into the fray with the exception of Brooklyn's Ralph Branca and St. Louis' George Munger, a couple of right handed pitchers.

Series Smallest Score

He even used Schoolboy Rowe of the Phils, the first player ever to appear for both teams in the All-Star series, as a pinch hitter in the last of the ninth.

Both managers stuck with their starting lineups, named by some 2,000,000 fans in a nationwide poll for the first time since 1934, for longer than the required three innings.

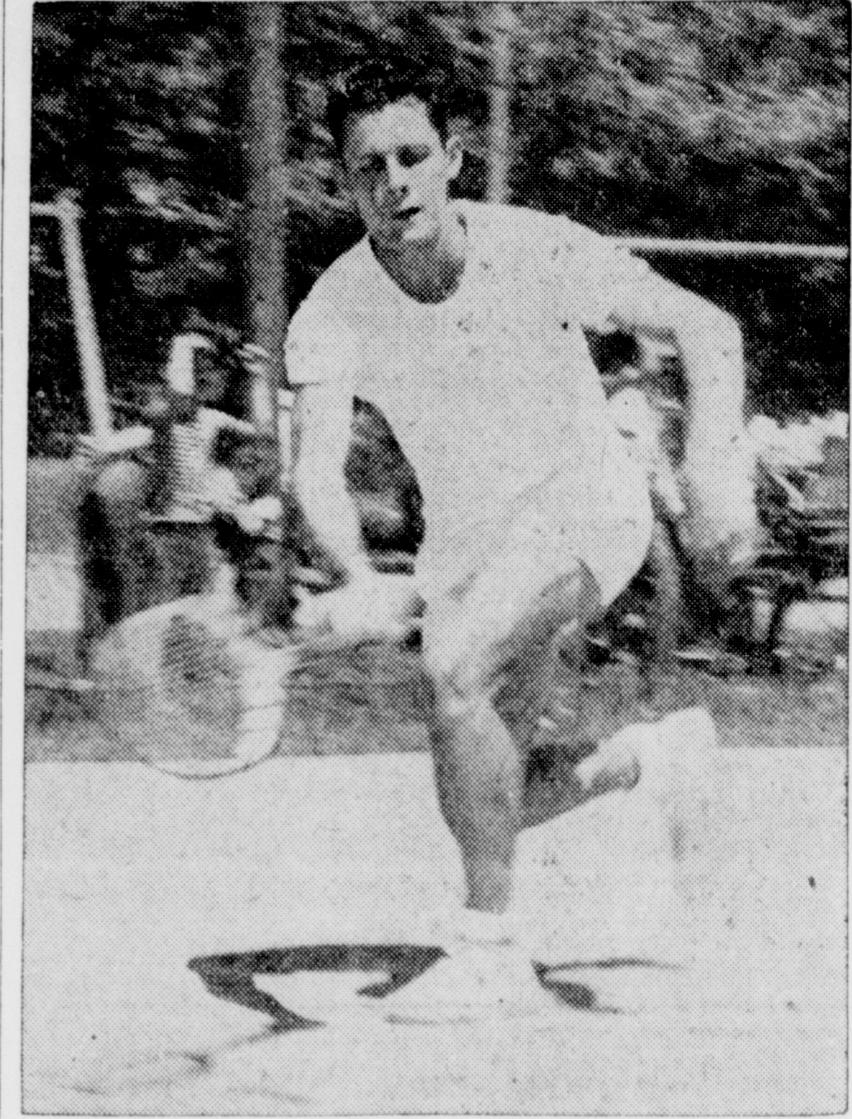

Dyer lifted the Walker brothers, Harry of the Phils and Dixie of Brooklyn, in the fifth, and made numerous substitutions thereafter.

Enos Slaughter was the only man to play the whole game for the losers although Johnny Mize, who led the club with two hits, was in there until lifted for a pinch-runner in the eighth.

Five American Leaguers played the entire game, including Shortstop-manager Lou Boudreau of Cleveland, First Baseman George McQuinn of the Yankees, Rosar, Williams and DiMaggio.

It was the smallest score in the history of the event. The previous low was the American's 3-1 decision in 1939 and 1942.

Record net receipts of $105,314.90 were ear-marked for the player pension fund.

1947 U. P. TENNIS CHAMPION—Making a deep court forehand return at Ludington Park here Monday morning, Bill Mikulich, of Traunick, captain of the University of Michigan tennis team, followed through with this retrieve to smash his way to a 6-5, 6-1, 6-3 victory over Bob Borcherdt, of Manitowoc, Wis., in the first postwar U. P. Open Tennis tournament.

FINALIST IN U. P. NET MEET—Bob Borcherdt, of Manitowoc, Wis., former captain of the University of Wisconsin tennis team, is shown here making a block shot return from mid-court in his finals match with Bill Mikulich, Traunick, in the U. P. Open net meet. He lost in straight sets after advancing to the finals without difficulty.

The Sports Parade

BY JIM WARD

The new Upper Peninsula tennis champion, one Bill Mikulich from Traunick, plans to get as much tournament tennis as possible this summer to develop his game for varsity play at the University of Michigan next season and also for future tournament competition.

In other words, he is serious about the game and is taking the wisest course to improve his play—"as much tournament competition as possible." That's the ticket, as William well knows. He picked up a pointer from Billy Halbert in the Kentucky Open, where he went to the semifinals to lose to Talbert and Gardner Mullay. It was a slightly different grip that enables him to hit a more firm forehand shot.

Like Frank Parker, Mikulich has always had a strong backhand, a flat, firmly-stroked shot that sends the ball skimming over the net by inches to the deep corners, but his forehand has been weak. He's working on it now, as well as a powerful overhead smash game from mid-court, and expects to achieve both in tournament play the rest of summer.

His next competition will be the western amateur in Chicago, beginning this weekend, and then he said, with a side glance at his brother Louis, who acts in the capacity of manager and "backer," he intends to enter some big meets in the East. He will meet Fred Otto and Andy Paton, fellow members of the state university team who also are 1946 Michigan doubles champions.

In spite of a few rough spots, which were expected in the first postwar revival of the U. P. net classic, you can put it in your hat that the U. P. open here last weekend was a decided success. All contestants had a word of praise for the meet and said it felt good to get together again in a meet of Upper Peninsula stature.

That it was a success is due to the conscientious work of Vaughn Belanger, Bill Puckelwartz, Paul Vardigan, George Grenholm, Ted Baldwin and others. We are not trying to name them all. Belanger and Puckelwartz worked especially hard during the meet, running themselves ragged between Ludington Park, Royle Park and the North Side courts to keep things running smoothly.

Grenholm was responsible for the pre-meet ground work, with the help of Jim Fitzharris and others, and Vardigan and Baldwin acted as officials during the men's singles final in addition to performing other tasks.

Marquette delegation had a great time here . . . Marion Anderson, Leonard and Bob Brumm, Coke Lempesis and Ed Kukuk drove down in one car and said next year they were going to bring a trailer to take home their trophies . . . They had the back seat loaded with prizes—an electric clock, tennis racquet, cigarette lighters, polo shirts, etc . . . Had it not been for the Wisconsin entries, Marquette's netters would have won everything but the men's singles . . . Miss Anderson was runnerup to Pearl Weir in women's singles; she and Bob Brumm were runnerup in mixed doubles, losing to Weir and Simpson.

In the only all-brother doubles act of the meet, the Brumms knocked off the Mikuliches, 6-0, 6-4, in a semifinal upset.

Ed Kukuk, defense star of the Marquette hockey team, said his brother, Norman, Marquette recreation director, is planning a city meet there . . . "Okey" Brumm says the job will fall to him since he's in charge of the courts . . . Brother Mike was watching brothers Jim and Fred Albert, Ironwood, battle it out in a singles match . . . Mike says there is "only neighborhood interest in tennis in Ironwood and added that it will take more meets like this to revive full interest in tennis throughout the Upper Peninsula." . . . Romeo and Ed Rocheleau are screaming for more support in Iron Mountain to get more players out and give them more competition.

So now the first postwar U. P. Tennis Open is history, but we think it should be made an annual affair in Escanaba and should be followed up this summer by a city meet and possibly a U. P. invitational.

Borcherdt, incidentally, is an accountant and runs a tennis shop in Manitowoc as a sideline. He also plays softball and referees football and basketball. He was here with his son and attractive wife.

Borcherdt, who once ranked 15th nationally as a boy player, played against Frank Parker, newly-crowned national clay courts champion, in an exhibition in Manitowoc two weeks ago. He also played against him 17 years ago when Parker was the 14-year-old Milwaukee boy wonder. That was before he met Mercer Beasley, the coach who did much to build Parker's game to national championship caliber.

Sidelight Items On All-Star Tilt

BY WILLIAM J. CONWAY

Wrigley Field, Chicago, July 8 (AP)—The All-Star game, for three innings, looked like "the battle of the flying saucers." Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati and Hal Newhouser of Detroit, the starting pitchers, seemed to be throwing those mysterious objects that have been zooming across the sky. Each allowed only one hit. Blackwell fanned four and Newhouser two.

Bob Feller, the Cleveland pitching colossus, was sidelined by an ailing back, but he gave his American league colleagues unstinted moral support. "I'd like to be out there," he said. "I hate to miss occasions like this."

The shirt - sleeved bleacher crowd, providing a white background at the batter's eye level, brought squawks from the junior circuit clouters. "It's bad," commented Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees. "They ought to do something about it." George Kell of the Detroit Tigers filed a supporting brief: "It's rough."

Baseball's brass hats were out in force. Every club in the majors was represented by a manager or front office executive. A delegation from the Pacific coast, hopeful of presenting a spectacle to turn the tables on Fayette, to the tune of 16-11 in a Bay de Noc baseball league game here Sunday afternoon.

Heavy hitters for the victors were Wright, who connected three times in five trips to the plate, including a home run; B. Lord, who got three for six; G. Thiel, two; O. Farley, one; and C. H. Smith, one.

The Biblical spirit of good will toward men prevailed before the cannonading began. Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox bludgeoneer, saluted Johnny Mize, the New York Giant hatchet man, this way: "Good luck to you, boy."

Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler threw out the first ball. His delivery drew a chorus of boos from the fans.

The Nationals went into a shift for Ted Williams, who habitually pulls the ball into right field. The center and right fielders and the second and first basemen moved to their left when he came to the plate. Williams punctured this strategy his second time up by doubling along the first base line. On his next trip, he lined a hit to the right field grass between the outfielders and infielders.

The home run ball blasted by Johnny Mize of the New York Giants in the fourth inning sailed over and beyond the 368 foot marker into the right field bleachers.

Bobby Locke Wins Tam Event; Vaults To 2nd Among Money Winners

Chicago, July 8 (AP)—Bobby Locke, the South African golf perfectionist, won the $7,000 Tom O'Shanter first prize today by shooting 140—four strokes under par—and six under Ed (Porky) Oliver's 146 in their 36-hole pro

Locke's winnings at $16,187.50. Locke has collected this swag in 35 competitive rounds, while Hogan's leading $17,099 was banked on 52 tournament rounds.

Oliver Shoots A 43

Oliver's second-place prize of $3,334 kept him in sixth place among the money winners with a total of $10,111.

Locke entered today's final round with a three-stroke edge after firing a 68 over the par 36-36-72 layout yesterday while Oliver shot a 71.

On today's first nine, the two stars played like a couple of guys named Joe. Oliver, dropping five strokes to par on the first four holes, wound up with a horrendous 43, while the machine-like Locke took a rusty 39 with a 7 on the 27th green after three putting.

Starting the last nine with two birdies, Oliver finished with a brilliant 32 for 75, while Locke counted an eagle 3 on the 28th to finish with a 33 for 72.

Locke's six foot putt for an eagle 3 on the 28th boosted his lead to eight strokes—the greatest margin of the match.

Oliver shaved the advantage with a 10 footer for a deuce on the 29, but Locke again gained an eight-stroke edge by curling in a 35 foot putt for a birdie on the 31st. That was the last hole he gained.

Sights On Hogan

They squared the 32nd with Oliver missing his second putt of the day under one foot. The Wilmington, Del., pro then gained on the 500-yard 33rd by reaching the green in two shots and holing out with a birdie 4.

They parred the next two, and Oliver sliced the lead to the final six strokes on the last green by ramming in a 15 footer for a birdie 3.

CARPET PRICES TO STAY HIGH

Materials And Wages Block Reductions In Floor Coverings

Chicago, July 8 (P)—A carpet manufacturer's representative said today, "it is quite unlikely there will be any decreases on wool floor coverings in the near future."

Attending the international homefurnishings market here, Francis Monahan, general sales manager for the Mohawk Carpet Mills, Amsterdam, N. Y., told newsmen:

"Our basic materials, chiefly wool and jute, have increased from 33½ per cent to 45 per cent and wages have advanced 60 to 70 per cent over 1941."

Because of these conditions, he said, "it is practically impossible to expect reduction this year." He said wool floor coverings prices are averaging 25 to 26 per cent over 1941 levels.

The same conditions apply to hard surface coverings, said Curtiss N. Painter, vice president, floor covering division of the Armstrong Cork Company, Lancaster, Pa. He continued:

"Prices will probably continue at present levels, but at the first opportunity our prices will be revised downward, reflecting immediately any reductions in cost of manufacture."

Because the high linseed oil prices will continue probably at approximately the same level during the remainder of 1947, however, the likelihood of reducing prices this year is becoming more remote."

Eleventh District Congressional Race Draws Nine Entries

Lansing, July 8 (P)—Seven Republicans and two Democrats had filed nominating petitions at the deadline today for the July 29 primary election to select nominees for the 11th congressional district vacancy. The candidates:

Senator Otto W. Bishop, Alpena; William B. Forsyth, Sault Ste. Marie; Senator George Girschbach, Sault Ste. Marie; George E. Harvey, Escanaba; U. S. A. Heggblom, Manistique; Speaker Victor A. Knox of the House, Sault Ste. Marie; Charles E. Potter, Cheboygan, all Republicans.

Harold D. Beaton, St. Ignace, and Mrs. Violet Patterson, Perkins and Lansing, both Democrats.

The candidates seek the office vacated by the death of Congressman Fred Bradley, Rogers City.

Dewey Is Promised Backing From GOP Chiefs In Arkansas

Sapulpa, Okla., July 8 (P)—A majority of Arkansas' 13 delegates votes will be cast for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, two G. O. P. leaders from that state predicted today.

After a conference here with the New York governor, William T. Mills, Arkansas' G. O. P. gubernatorial nominee last year, and Claude M. Williams, a member of the Arkansas state committee, reported to newsmen there was a "heat" of rank and file sentiment in their state for Dewey.

They said that while it was too early to tell how the political situation finally would jell, they believed Arkansas would go for the governor.

Railroad Freight Rates Up In North, Down In The South

Washington, July 8 (P)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today directed the railroads to proceed with freight rate adjustments, increasing rates 10 per cent in the north and east and lowering tariffs by the same amount in the south and western states east of the Rocky mountains.

The territorial class rates adjustments apply mostly to the movement of manufactured goods and are designed to effect greater uniformity in the national freight rates structure.

The 10 per cent boost will apply to states east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potowmac rivers.

The changes originally were ordered by ICC in 1945.

Saginaw Sets Up First Municipal Housing Authority

Saginaw, Mich., July 8 (P)—The city council prepared today to set up a municipal housing authority which a federal official called the first of its kind in the nation.

The council authorized the authority to borrow funds for erection of 20 housing units for negro veterans at a cost of $100,000. Of the total, $10,000 would be borne by the city for the expense of the land.

In a special session, the authority was also given the green light to take over two present low cost housing units, in one of which the absence of Negro veterans has led to a discrimination suit suit against the city.

Francis X. Servitus, of the Cleveland office of the Federal Public Housing Administration, said the proposed municipal authority was the first of its kind in the nation and should elicit wide interest.

Steel Men Worried

However, Senator Taft, co-author of the new law, was not disappointed. He said that agreement by employers and unions to settle disputes among themselves is "exactly what the law was aimed at."

Some legislators questioned legality of the contract, but one prominent Republican, who asked anonymity, observed: "We can't help it if they want to agree to a contract that bypasses the law. All we can do is pass the law."

Presumably, however, the "national emergency" provisions of the Taft-Hartley act, which provide an 80-day injunction and fact-finding procedure to halt a shutdown, would apply if a coal stoppage reached the point of imperiling "public health or safety."

Now signatory to the contract are all the "captive" mines—those owned by steel firms—and all northern commercial mines; most midwestern mines and some far western ones; and even a liberal sprinkling of southern companies which do not belong to the Southern Association.

In a special session, the authority was also given the green light to take over two present low cost housing units, in one of which the absence of Negro veterans has led to a discrimination suit suit against the city.

White said he did not personally see how the price of steel can be held at its present level.

However, AFL Vice President Matthew Woll, testifying before Taft's congressional committee, said he sees no reason why steel prices should go up.

A second arraignment was ordered, however, after state police records disclosed the reduced charge was in order.
